Pre-Dawn Blaze Completely Cuts Saanichton Mill

Police Suspect Incendiarism.
Investigation to Be Launched

By TREVOR COLLINS

Incendiarism is suspected in a $30,000 fire that destroyed the Saanichton mill on the East Saanichton Indian Reserve about 3.30 a.m. yesterday.

The mill, owned by the Moore Whittington Lumber Company Limited, is considered a total loss, according to a company spokesman.

Central Saanichton Police Chief Vernon J. Lawley said there is a "strong" possibility the fire was set deliberately.

Sidney detachment of the R.C.M.P. said last night a full investigation will be made into the fire in co-operation with Chief Lawley.

The mill was built about a year ago and has not been in operation for the past month.

Police saw a car, running with out lights, was seen by an Indian to enter the mill road shortly before the fire broke out.

It raced back down the mill road a few minutes later with lights blazing. Then the mill burst into a mass of flames, the Indian said.

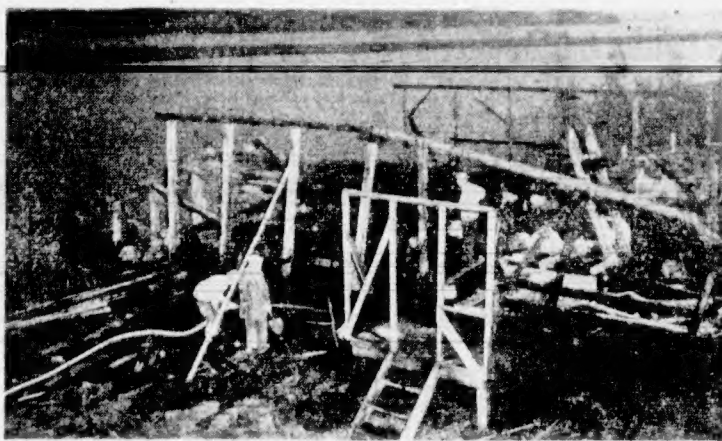

A company spokesman said he couldn't understand how the fire could start on its own accord because the mill was out of operation and the weather wet.

Central Saanichton volunteer fire department, under the direction of Fire Chief Arthur Boister, responded to the call.

More than 30 men battled the fire for nearly two hours.

There was no lumber in the mill but valuable machinery was rendered useless. Only a charred and blackened shell of a building remained at daybreak.

Canadians Reach Rotterdam

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 14 (CP).—The ship bearing the first of the main body of Canadian troops for the defense of western Europe docked today in this lowlands city where the Canadian army marched in the joyous triumph of liberation seven years ago.

But most of the drama of the occasion has been reserved until next week, when Gen. Eisenhower is expected to attend a ceremony marking the historic movement of Canadian forces into peacetime Europe.

Then the red-headed men of the Canadian 27th Brigade's 1st Infantry Battalion will march through the main square of Rotterdam while Eisenhower takes the salute as commander of the Atlantic Pact Army they are joining in Germany.

Members of the Netherlands royal family, Canadian ambassadors, and dozens of correspondents from Paris and London will join the Netherlands in watching.

Today's arrival was a quiet climax to a quiet nine-day Atlantic crossing from Quebec, City for soldiers of such supporting units as ordnance, service corps and medical units as well as the brigade headquarters staff under Maj. Douglas Gillan of Ottawa.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, the brigade commander, is due early next week.

The new arrivals raise nearly 1,000 the number of Canadian troops already in Europe, with another 4,500 to come.

Saanichton mill was not in operation when fire started which left it total loss. There was no lumber in mill but valuable machinery was rendered useless. Company spokesman said he didn't see how fire could start of own accord in view of mill not operating and weather being so wet. From left are Chief Lawley and volunteer firemen T. Michell, Harry McNicol and Norman Foster.

House Debates Allowance Issue

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP).—Members of the three opposition groups in the Commons today joined forces to urge the government to increase war veterans' allowances and to make an early start on the South Saskatchewan River irrigation project.

The members spoke in continued slow-moving debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. The debate was expected to end today, but speakers kept talking until the early midweek adjournment.

The debate will be resumed, and possibly concluded Monday.

Sen. Louis St. Laurent, leader, called for support of his party's motion criticizing the government for "failing" to compensate the recipients of war veterans' allowances for the increase in the cost of living.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and several Progressive Conservative members said they supported demands for increases in the allowances and also in the pensions of disabled veterans.

It would not cost more than $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 a year to provide for the increases.

U.N. Dared by Red To Move War Line

Truculent Peiping Radio
Joins in Attack Threat

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 15 (Thursday) (AP).—A Moscow-trained Chinese truce negotiator Wednesday virtually dared the United Nations to break off the Korean armistice talks and try to change the front lines by force of arms—if they could.

The challenge came from Mao Gen, Hsiao Fang, Chinese Red, subcommittee chairman and former military attaché in Moscow. It prompted no immediate reply.

However, the seriousness of the matter was emphasized by the fact that a five-hour subcommittee session led the U.N. command to declare "no mutually acceptable solution was in sight."

Neither side appeared in any mood to back away from the stand it has taken.

The Red Peiping radio, in a frequent broadcast today, declared that at the talks, known down "we are prepared" to smash United Nations attacks.

It urged the Chinese people to tighten their belts and strengthen their campaign in Korea "until the enemy is willing to accept peace."

The broadcast accused Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. negotiator of trying to "wreck finally the whole armistice negotiations."

Nevertheless, joint sub-committee

BULLETINS

Seek Pair

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP).—R.C.M.P. today started a preliminary phone-and-radio search for two Vancouver hunters, unreported since they left Sunday for the Arrow Lakes district.

Herman Moore, 46, and Ernie Friedli, 51, failed to arrive at a rendezvous point they had arranged with Moore's brother-in-law, Ivan Morehouse, west of Nakusp.

Two Killed
SEVERN FALLS, Ont., Nov. 14 (CP).—Two men were killed tonight when two Canadian National Railways freight trains collided head-on near this town 13 miles north of Orillia.

India Urges "No-War" Declaration

PARIS, Nov. 14 (AP). India appealed today for a joint "no war" declaration by the Big Four foreign ministers.

Sir Benegal Rau of India and delegates from several smaller countries urged in speeches before the United Nations Assembly that the United States, Britain, France and Russia get together in the U.N.

Rau reminded the assembly that President Vincent Auriol of France suggested the chiefs of states of the four powers get together for face-to-face talks. The Indian delegate added:

"So long as existing tensions continue unabated, it would be unrealistic to expect disarmament."

Antonio J. Quevedo of Ecuador also took up Auriol's suggestion. He said it would become the most productive of all those submitted so far in the present Assembly.

The Auriol suggestion and all other hints for the Big Four to meet have been received coolly by the men most concerned, none showing any intention of moving toward a meeting at this Assembly.

Social Cases To Get Bonus

Christmas bonuses to recipients of social allowances were announced yesterday by the provincial department of health and welfare.

The bonuses paid to recipients in unorganized territory amount to $2 for single persons and $5 for heads of families.

Municipalities may have this bonus paid to their own social allowance cases at the usual 80.20 split, according to the department.

Atrocities Charged To Reds

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP).—The United States Eighth Army today charged the Communists in acts of "barbarism unique even in the Communist world," have killed about 5,000 Americans and 200 other Allied prisoners of war.

That grim record, compiled since the outbreak of the Korean war, did not include South Korean soldiers, but the army indicated approximately 11,000 of them were killed.

Estimates of 250,000 Korean civilians slain in atrocities were also cited.

"The exact figure will never be known," the army added.

The figures were announced at a press conference by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the Eighth Army's judge advocate section.

"The Chinese forces in Korea have committed most of the Communist atrocities," he said.

Flames Destroy House, Jewels Reported Lost

COLWOOD, Nov. 14. Fire of undetermined origin tonight destroyed the home of Richard Diamant, Anchorage Avenue, Esquimalt Lagoon.

Colwood Volunteer Fire Brigade attended but were unable to quell the blaze. Their efforts were hampered by lack of an adequate water supply in the area.

Mr. Diamant, a wholesale jeweler, has a jewelry factory in the same building. Thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry and equipment were reported consumed in the flames.

Two large acetylene tanks for a while endangered the lives of firemen as they battled flames that at times leaped 100 feet into the air.

Electric service in the district was interrupted when power lines to the house burned down.

One fireman was injured at the scene for an injured hand.

Milk Board Power Illegal, Judge Holds

A personal opinion of County Court Judge Harry Sullivan of New Westminster has branded unconstitutional B.C. Milk Board powers to fix butterfat content of milk.

Judge Sullivan quashed the conviction of William E. Crawford, fined $10 earlier this year, because milk he sold contained too much butterfat. The personal opinion was not part of a judgment brought down yesterday in the Mainland court.

Informed of the judgment and opinion, Attorney General Gordon Wismer expressed surprise, deputy agriculture minister W. H. Robertson, expressed interest, and dairyman A. G. Lambriek gave support.

CASE DISMISSED
The court dismissed the case because the prosecution had failed to prove ownership of the milk which had been tested and because ownership of the truck in the case had not been established, Canadian Press reported.

The judge added, "If it was necessary I would say the power of the milk board is unconstitutional in this case."

Thousands of Egyptians Parade in Silent Protest

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 14 (CP).—Thousands of Egyptians turned out today for a silent, peaceful anti-British demonstration which Cairo newspapers hailed as the greatest in the city's history and "more violent than the roars of guns."

Several Egyptian police officials estimated 1,000,000—some Cairo newspapers put the figure as high as 2,500,000—marched the four-mile route from Midan Ismailia Square in the centre of Cairo to Abdin Palace to protest foreign occupation of the Suez Canal Zone and mourn the killing of a score of Egyptians in clashes with British forces.

Police stationed at intervals of six feet even stopped organized hand-clapping to enforce the government's edict of order and silence.

The government has banned demonstrations since it cancelled its alliance with Britain last month, but relaxed the order to permit an outpouring of patriotic sentiment today on the condition that there should be no shouting.

Aging Premier Mustafa Nasser himself led the parade.

Once "Dead," Woman Now Much Better

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 (AP).—Flamboyant doctors today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago. Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma Tuesday.

Last Thursday a doctor pronounced her dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch.

Her Tuesday doctors had feared Mrs. Butler's brain would be damaged from being without oxygen while she appeared to be lifeless.

Rumor States Stalin Failing

BERLIN, Nov. 14 (AP).—Rumors circulated in Berlin tonight that Soviet Premier Stalin's health had deteriorated in the last month.

The rumor was attributed to an informant on the staff of the Soviet Control Commission.

According to the rumor, here Stalin's heart condition, from which he has suffered for years, deteriorated so much that on Oct. 18 four doctors informed the Soviet Council of Ministers that an operation might be required.

Woman Hurt in Crash

One person was injured and two cars extensively damaged in a collision on the West Saanichton Road early last night. Mrs. Florence Freeman, a passenger in the car of J. Boam, 2826 Colquitz (pictured here) was admitted to Rest Haven Hospital with scalp lacerations. The Boam car was in collision with an automobile driven by Henry Esler, Beach Drive, Saanichton. ## On Trail of Sir John Franklin

Century-Old Document Recalls Arctic Tragedy

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP).—A printed, century-old message left by a party searching in vain for Sir John Franklin's ill-fated expedition to find the Northwest Passage has been discovered by an Ottawa seismologist.

Peter Bremner, 24, made the historic discovery beneath a cairn of flat stones on the shore of Cornwallis Island, about 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

Returning to Ottawa after a 14-month tour of duty recording earthquakes at lonely Resolute Bay, Bremner said he was making his way back to the station, a 15-mile ski jaunt during the summer months when he came upon the cairn, a mile in land from the head of Assistance Bay.

Bremner returned later with Constable Ed Boone of the R.C.M.P. and Flying Officer H. C. Unthoff of the R.C.A.F. They pried open the lead-sealed outer carrier and found a smaller can inside. In the inner can was a single sheet of yellowing paper folded in a light cotton bag.

It contained this message, sage, but in vain.

ALLABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

We are so sensitive in this country. Let some nitwit cry "Canada should be more English"—or American, or Scandinavian, or Spanish—and worse nitwits yelp back in chorus that "Canada should be more Canadian."

The cry and the answering chorus mean as much as the chattering of monkeys and parrots through the bars. The people on both sides of such controversies show all the wisdom of infants calling "dowanna play in your yard" across the back fence. And the arguments they use are exactly similar.

"You talk through your nose, you Canadian! You have no manners!"

"Ah, ya can't even talk English y'self, ya limey, ya kipper. Ah ya don't like it here, put on ya monocle and va snats and go back where ya-came-from!"

I have read an exchange of letters in the correspondence columns of a newspaper which followed just the lines indicated above.

And yet those who used such arguments were not actually infants or animals in a zoo. They were adult human beings, quite capable, I assume, of fending for themselves in a complex world. How did they come to possess such attitudes of mind?

In some cases they inherited them from biased parents who imprinted silly opinions on children so early and so deeply that the opinions can never be removed by the surgery of fact and reason.

In other cases, people were hurt or slighted in childhood by someone of another nationality, and they have never forgotten it. By an odd quirk which psychologists understand, they blame all members of that nation for the faults of one. There are extreme cases in which the patient blames that nationality for all the troubles of the world.

And there is also the tendency, among children and less intelligent grown-ups, to suspect and persecute those who differ from themselves—those who fail to conform to the standards of their particular group.

Childhood propaganda, childhood hurts, conformity. You sometimes find all three factors mixed together. And there may be a fourth factor, which is interlocked with the others: a feeling of inferiority.

You do not hear Englishmen exclaiming that their country should be "more English," because they take for granted that it is English. It would be just as sensible to say cabbages should be more cabbagey or horses should be more horsey.

Yet at one period in history Englishmen were jealous of the Englishness of their country, because it was in doubt. Canada is in the same position today. The regional and racial elements in Canada have not quite been welded. We cover up that defect by yelling loudly and repeatedly that we are a nation. Such yelling, and to say, will never bring about the state of affairs we want.

I do not admit that national feeling is a good thing. This may be the time to break down national barriers. Instead of building new ones. A cosmopolitan Canada would be a more pleasant place in which to live than a narrowly national Canada.

If people from other countries come to us talking nonsense, we treat them as they should be treated, admittedly. We let fools of our own nation answer them. But if people from other countries give us intelligent criticism, why not see if we can benefit by it? No country—whether it is a nation or not—has a monopoly of good sense.

B.C. Resources Viewed As Depression Safeguard

CAMPBELL RIVER, Nov. 14 (AP).—There is no chance of a depression in British Columbia as long as the world needs the resources of this province, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb told a Progressive Conservative meeting here tonight in the Scout Hall.

B.C. is extremely fortunate in being the last stronghold of hydro-electric power on the continent, he said.

The meeting was also addressed by Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines and technical education, who said that Campbell River was the only village he knew of which had applied for four extensions of its boundaries. Mr. MacDonald said that, although he regretted the government could not at this time establish a steel mill here, it may become a reality in the not too distant future.

Alberta Raises Families To Agricultural Peerage

EDMONTON, Nov. 14 (CP)—The Alberta government today raised four farm families to the province's peerage of agriculture.

For a third year, the Social Credit government announced agriculture's honors list—the Master Farm Family Awards—entitling each family to $1,000 cash, an engraved plaque and a name plate for the farm entrance.

Agriculture Minister D. A. Lee said the awards are for "good farming, right living and clear thinking." Thirty-six nominations for the honor were scored on 87 factors ranging from conservation practices and business management to family and community life.

The winners: John G. Peroni of Willingdon, a district northeast of Edmonton settled at the turn of the century largely by Romanian immigrants. Peroni in 1928 inherited 160 acres, a log cabin and a $2,000 mortgage. Today he operates a prosperous grain-livestock business, his holdings have grown to 800 acres—and the mortgage is just a memory.

Victor Watson, who ranches 5,300 acres near Airdrie just north of Calgary. He is one of Alberta's leading growers of registered seed and captured the oats championship at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair in 1938. His family came west from Harwood, Ont.

Floyd Gilkyson of La Glace in northern Alberta's Peace River country. With little capital, he built up in 20 years a fine beef herd in Canada's youngest agricultural region.

Royal Couple In Gale Midst

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—The liner Empress of Scotland, bringing home Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh from their Canadian tour was reported today to be riding mountainous seas in mid-Atlantic.

An R.A.F. Coastal Command plane from Britain sighted her this morning but was unable to establish radio contact owing to interference.

The Canadian High Commissioner, Dana L. Wilgress, and U.S. Ambassador Walter Gifford will help to welcome the Royal couple back to London Saturday afternoon, it was announced today.

Smuggling of Cigarettes From U.S. on Increase

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—The law is on its toes and watching constantly, but there are nevertheless ever-growing attempts to smuggle more and more low-priced cigarettes into Canada.

Officials said today no one can be sure just how many of the cigarettes are finding their way into Canadian markets illegally, but on the basis of the attempts made and the increased numbers of smugglers uncovered, the illegal movement appears to be gaining ground.

Elizabeth Sends Thank You Letter

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth, in a farewell letter read to the Commons today, said she and Prince Philip want to come back to Canada before too long.

The letter, dated Nov. 11 at St. John's Nfld., and addressed to Prime Minister St. Laurent, follows:

"My Dear Prime Minister:—Before leaving I want to tell you how grateful my husband and I are to you and to your colleagues for having given us so great an experience on this journey across Canada."

"The welcome we received on all sides has far exceeded anything we could have believed possible, and we have been given a picture of the rich variety of Canadian life which we shall never forget, and which has interested us profoundly."

"It has given us infinite pleasure to have had the chance of meeting and talking to so many Canadians in every walk of life, and we have been happy to have had with us at various times on our journey your colleagues in the cabinet."

"Their advice has been invaluable."

U.S., Yugoslavia Sign Aid Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (INS)—The United States and Yugoslavia today signed an agreement promising Communist Marshal Tito's anti-Russian government a continued flow of American military equipment.

The state department announced signing of the pact in Belgrade by Tito and U.S. Ambassador George Allen.

Italian Unemployed Fill British Labor Shortage

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Britain is recruiting jobless Italians to help fill its manpower needs in its state-owned coal mines and railways.

By the end of the year, this country expects to have 1,000 Italians working in coal pits and an equal number laboring on railways.

These 2,000 Italians admittedly make only a small dent in Italy's problem of 2,000,000 jobless, but it helps, and both countries benefit.

Of the two programs, the recruiting of Italians for mine work is the more ambitious. A special course of training has been set up for these workers. They are signed up in Italy on two-year contracts and brought to Britain in groups of 30 to 40 a week.

After arrival they are sent to an English language training school for 10 to 11 weeks. They then go through at least three weeks of training in mining.

By early November just more than 1,000 Italians had arrived in Britain for mine work. Some 400 have already started work.

The use of Italian labor in the mines has run into opposition from some local units of the National Union of Mineworkers. The Italians are sent only to pits where the leaders of the local union welcome them.

Phone, Plane Fail to Save Ill Salesman

BRALORE, B.C., Nov. 14 (CP)—Long-distance telephone consultations between surgeons and attempted mercy flights yesterday failed to save the life of Robert W. Foreman, 30-year-old Vancouver salesman.

Foreman was visiting this mining town 110 miles north of Vancouver on a sales trip when he was stricken by an unidentified paralysis.

Emergency flights failed because of bad weather, powdered landings on a nearby gun lake.

Doctors here decided to operate after telephone consultations with Vancouver specialists in pain and other paralyzing diseases.

Foreman was operated on Saturday. His condition improved Sunday but he suffered a relapse Tuesday and died as another plane tried to get through with a respirator which might have saved his life.

No Bonus Planned For U.K. Yuletide

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—Britons will have to forgo their usual Christmas bonus in rationed foods this year, but will have their normal weekly bacon allotment increased from three ounces to four, Food Minister Gwilym Lloyd George announced today.

Last Christmas the Socialist food ministry allowed each person an extra six ounces of candy, 1½ pounds of sugar and four ounces of shortening for the holiday season.

The general food situation does not permit any increases, the food minister told the House of Commons.

Oddities

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—"Where are the waiters?" demanded hungry diners at a Warsaw restaurant.

Eventually the waiters turned up. The Polish evening newspaper Ekspres Wlczorny said they were all attending a meeting to discuss the problem of better restaurant service.

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 14 (AP)—There's nothing like illustrating a point.

The Washington State College student newspaper today carried a story announcing "an important professors meeting" tomorrow.

WABOO, Neb., Nov. 14 (AP)—There's a lion hunt on in this Saunders County, Neb., area, less than 50 miles from Omaha.

Saunders County Sheriff Joe Davis says he firmly believes there's a lion hereabouts. The beast was sighted by two farmers Monday. They described it being big with a mane and tufted tail.

Seattle's Century of Progress

THE BEST wishes of the Pacific Northwest are with Seattle this week in the opening of the Sound city's centennial celebrations. Although Seattle's official birthday falls on Feb. 15—the anniversary of the filing by the city's founders of the first claims in what was to become Seattle proper—it is entirely fitting that the century of settlement should be marked at this earlier time.

History records that it was on Nov. 13, 1851, that the first settlers landed from the schooner Exact at Alki Point, where they remained for three months before moving across Elliott Bay to build permanent homes in an untouched wilderness of rock and pine. Like all who pioneer virgin territory, those who cleared land and hewed logs for cabins on the shore of Puget Sound were men of vision; but they can scarcely have believed that they were laying the foundations of a city which in the short space of a century would attain a population of half a million. The founders of settlement on Puget Sound and the men and women who built Victoria had their origins far apart, but they followed the same perilous route around the Horn to the virtually unknown lands of the northwest. In watching one another grow, the two cities have shared a close affinity, with keen rivalry in evidence sometimes but warm friendship and good neighborliness always. As a contemporary city, Victoria is particularly happy to felicitate Seattle on its centenary.

Not a Private Event

REPORTED discovery of oil within the Peace River district in British Columbia is public business before it can be anything else. Any tendency on the part of the provincial government to go off into a corner and keep its information to itself would have immediate and accumulating repercussions, all of them painful. Before it is too late, will the Cabinet bring the public up to date on what really has taken place? When and where was oil found, in what quantity and grade, on whose land and by what private or other endeavor, what leases have been granted since and to whom, and what further applications for leases are in hand and by whom? All of this information the public has every right to know. The mere suggestion that the government was withholding any pertinent fact might be damagingly misconstrued. Nor is there any need whatever of that. The surest way to smoke-out rumor and to stop market kiting is to tell the facts clearly and openly from the start.

The truth is the final answer everywhere. More by implication than in any one thing said, the administration has permitted the unfortunate impression to gain ground that something is being withheld from the public. While we do not believe that is so, such an impression if it gathered headway could do much harm. If there is oil in commercial quantity in British Columbia, under the statutes of this province all applicants have equal rights to its proving up and development. The more it is said that large oil companies are interested the more necessary it becomes for the crown in the right of the province to establish from the very outset that it is not holding anyone's hand nor is playing favorites in any degree whatsoever. Clear-cut announcement by the minister in charge of every step taken by the province in this matter is not only the Cabinet's best protection but the public's inalienable right. If there has been any resort to secrecy it should be laid aside totally.

The Leonids Are on Time

IT IS encouraging to know that there is something still on time in this upset world. Astronomers expect the annual return of the November meteoric shower from the constellation of Leo in the right place at the right time and precisely as advertised. Citizens who may be abroad at 2 a.m. today no doubt will see some of the Leonids, which they will call "shooting stars." It will be a pretty sight, will harm no one, and psychologically it will be vastly comforting to understand that the universe is behaving in a quiet and orderly fashion, even if man is not. For good measure, there will be a full moon in the sky, whether it is visible or not and just like the calendars foretold; also a very bright planet will be wending its quiet way before the usual constellations. In a world where man has learned how to pierce the ionosphere with rockets, drive planes faster than the speed of sound, and touch off nuclear fission bombs to bring a devil's brew on earth, it is comforting to think that nature's own show is still playing with its legitimate caste in its own unspooled production. Of course, it might mean little enough if the Leonids did not appear on time or if there were too many or too few of them, but should a small irregularity like that extend to the moon or the sun we quickly should stand undone. All things considered, what a blessing it is that the majestic orders of nature are quite beyond man's reach. We may look at them but we will never pull them down.

STRATHCONA PARK ACT

Sir—The B.C. Power Commission appears to have won a great and famous victory, and struck a stunning blow at the cause of those conservationists who think the natural beauties of our province are still worth preserving.

Decision by the Water Rights Comptroller in favor of the Power Commission was a very wise decision indeed, for his action will quicken the realization that our province is fast becoming a naked and disfigured land. Even our public parks are threatened by the exploiter and the woodsman's axe.

Section 3, Chapter 40 of the Strathcona Park Act reads exactly as follows: "The said tract of land is hereby reserved and set apart as a public park and pleasure ground for the benefit, advantage and enjoyment of the people of British Columbia"—could any meaning be clearer?

DENIS H. BESLEY,

234 Government Street, Victoria, B.C.

BUTTE LAKE

Sir—The reports in the local press concerning the Butte Lake issue, stating that the B.C. government had given permission to the Power Commission to build a dam across the lake have filled me with concern.

The fact that the Premier states that a full debate on this issue will be granted during the next session of the legislature does not alter the principle one iota as by then the damage will be done and all that will happen at the session will be that the Coalition whip will be cracked and "the hounds will come to heel."

A government to be democratic must always be the guardian of the rights of the common people and that would include all those intangibles known as "our heritage," but the people now find themselves betrayed by those who should be their protectors.

I have been a Liberal all my life and have held various offices in the Liberal Association; consequently I wish to make my position clear in this issue: the Coalition Government has bowed to the Power Commission in this matter and we have the unseemly spectacle of the tail wagging the dog. Commissions should be the servants of governments, not their masters. My faith in Coalition is gone, and from now on I shall be against Coalition and if this action of the government is supported by the Liberal members in the legislature I shall be constrained to reconsider my allegiance to the Liberal Party.

The Premier should understand that there is more to life than mere big business—that brought us the "great depression." A nation cannot be built on a foundation of big business, but it can be built on a happy and contented people who have faith in the great principles of true living, with full trust in their leaders.

S. HENSON,

851 Wollaston Street, Victoria, B.C.

BUTTE LAKE

Sir—In the matter of the Butte Lake dam, I wish to point out that whereas a very large section of the public is in favor of the proposition, so far publicity has only been given to contrary opinion. The opposition would have us believe that the beauties and recreational values of the lake and of Strathcona Park were about to be blasted off the map as though struck by an atomic bomb. So loud has been their voice and so persuasive their powers that their view is being passed off as public opinion when, as a matter of fact, it is no such thing.

Actually the number of people capable of passing a sound opinion on the matter from their own experience is very small, simply because the public in general has had no opportunity to visit the lake or to view the plans of the Power Commission. I have done both of these things and I am familiar with the views of far-seeing business men many of whom would vote in favor of the dam if they had the opportunity.

The beauties of Strathcona Park will not be spoiled in one iota, and the fishing in the lake will be far better after the dam is built. Furthermore, whereas these enjoyments are now only available to a favored few, due to the absence of a proper road, after the site is opened up the attractions of the park as a tourist draw-card can be sold to a much greater degree than under present conditions.

The strongest argument of all in favor of the dam concerns local prosperity. Are we to allow our vast supplies of forest raw material to go to foreign ports for manufacture into those modern products for which they are so increasingly proving suitable, or is this to be the job of our growing population aided by hydro-electric power? There is only one answer to that.

Properly presented the proposition for the dam can be sold to the public over and over again. On this stand I ask our government not to be intimidated by the truculent few.

A. E. PICKFORD,

124 Moss Street, Victoria, B.C.

For a Bowl of Macaroni

By GAULT MACGOWAN

VERSAILLES.—How diplomatic Ferdinand de Lesseps won the right to build the Suez Canal with some bowls of macaroni is being told here as Britain's clash with Egypt puts the Middle East defense problem in the spotlight.

De Lesseps was born in the Versailles Rue des Reservoirs 146 years ago this month. He was French consul in Cairo from 1833 to 1837.

Egypt, then a Turkish dominion, was governed by Pasha Mohamed Ali, who, for strategic reasons, was opposed to opening communications that would permit foreign warships to pass from the Mediterranean into the Red Sea. He even had closed an old canal that permitted small sailing vessels to pass from the Nile into the Red Sea.

For centuries men had dreamed of connecting the two seas by a direct waterway from Suez. The Turks at one time intervened to stop a Venetian project on the ground that it would permit gun running into the Sudan and Arabia for the use of Egypt's enemies.

Napoleon urged building the canal when he was in Egypt as an escape route for his fleet, pursued by Admiral Nelson.

De Lesseps, reading up the old files on the subject in the Cairo consulate, realized that he could do nothing with Mohamed Ali, but, looking ahead with diplomatic vision, cultivated the friendship of the pasha's favorite son, Prince Said.

Prince Said was a bright and brilliant scholar, but, unfortunately, excessively fat and addicted to overeating.

Mohamed Ali, who had become governor of Egypt for military prowess in the Turkish war with Napoleon, was unable to read or write, and held scholastic attainments in contempt.

When his children's tutor he had 50 children at one time or another—presented their weekly report on Prince Said, he asked for only the bottom line to be read to him. There was recorded the prince's weight.

If the prince weighed less than the previous week, the old pasha showered him with praise and rewards. If he weighed more, he was punished severely, and was obliged to get out in the open air on rough exercises.

This only increased the prince's hunger, but the unfortunate boy could find no Egyptian brave enough to risk the pasha's displeasure by giving him a little extra food on the sly. So, very often after a heavy day pulling an oar in a boat on the Nile, Said would drop in to see de Lesseps.

De Lesseps always offered him a plate of macaroni, which was Prince Said's favorite dish. Because macaroni was believed to be especially fattening by the Egyptian doctors, the de Lesseps home was the only place he could get it.

When Prince Said became governor of Egypt in 1854 he repaid de Lesseps by giving him a concession to start digging the canal. De Lesseps founded Port Said—named for the prince and the first earth was broken there in 1859.

The British tried hard to upset the concession by appeals to Constantine, with the same arguments the Egyptians are using against them now, but Said remained loyal to his macaroni memories, and helped de Lesseps with land and labor, to push on with his plan. Finally, in 1866, just three years before the canal was finished, the Sultan of Turkey confirmed the concession. The British came into the concern by buying up 177,000 shares in 1875, when the governor of Egypt of that time was in debt.

Gerald Waring Reports From Ottawa

THE government is embarking on the construction of rental housing, but not exactly as it did during the Second World War. This time it's making sure that someone else will be the landlord.

At Windsor, Ont., 325 houses will be built, and another 40 at St. Thomas, Ont.—the first for rental at economic rents under section 35 of the National Housing Act.

The federal government will pay 75 per cent of the cost, with the remainder to be split between the province and the municipalities.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., a federal government agency, will administer construction of the houses, but a local housing authority will be set up in each case to rent them and act as landlord.

This provision was inserted at the insistence of Ottawa, which wants nothing whatever to do with renting the houses. Why? Well, Liberal politicians here will explain rather grandiloquently that "it is not the function of federal authority to become the nation's landlord." But actually the reason is a little more down to earth than that. It's that the Liberal government doesn't want to be put in a position where it would either have to evict its tenants or let them live rent-free—as it might have to do if they couldn't pay the rent.

Under the wartime housing program, the government built 51,000 rental housing units. In the last few years it has been trying to sell as many of these as it could, and so far has disposed of about 27,500. But the chances are that it will still be a landlord for a long time, for many of the remainder are apartment houses, which are hard to sell.

Sale to tenants is the cardinal feature of the government's home selling program. A mere 10 per cent down payment is all that is required, and monthly payments approximate the rents formerly charged.

In these days of high cost housing, these wartime homes are practically the only bargains on the market. For example, munitions workers' houses which were built prior to 1945 "temporary" structures built on wooden posts, have been put on concrete foundations and tagged for sale at from $2,800 to $3,600. Veterans' homes built between 1945 and 1947 sell in the $3,800 to $5,000 range.

While these leftovers from the last war are being sold, the government is wrestling with new housing needs resulting from this war—the cold war. Homes for defense workers are needed urgently at a dozen points, particularly for Avro Canada's jet aircraft workers at Mallon, Ont.; jet plane workers at Canada Car & Foundry at Fort William; jet carburetor makers at Renfrew, Ont.; and men making guns and ships at Sorel, Que.

To meet this need, Resources Minister Winters recently announced government backing for construction of both private ownership and rental housing for defense workers on terms more favorable than those offered ordinary citizens under the National Housing Act.

This program, Winters told me, is expected to take up all the slack which developed in the home construction industry when restrictive steps taken months ago because of fear of material shortages proved to be too strong.

Pravda, Please Copy

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

THE C.C.F. has introduced a new promise into the Ontario election campaign. "Vote for us," they say, "and we will introduce low-cost automobile insurance, along the lines of the Saskatchewan scheme."

There is nothing very interesting about the promise itself, but the implications of it are, wonderful. They would make any old-time socialist whirl in his grave. Here is a socialist party seeking support of the workers not by promising food-for-their-empty stomachs, not by promising clothes for their shivering bodies, but by promising low-cost insurance for their sleek automobiles.

The socialist promise rests on the assumption—it can rest on no other—that enough people in Ontario own automobiles to make that promise worth while. And, of course, the assumption is correct. In this province, there is one passenger car for every five people, a ratio only exceeded in the United States. It is this state of affairs that makes the C.C.F. seem rather sad and rather silly. It is this state of affairs that leads them in fact to force them—to make such quaint pronouncements.

"Oppressed workers, exploited masses, slaves of capitalism, victims of poverty and injustice under the Frost Administration, cast off your shackles! Demand low-cost insurance on your cars, your electric refrigerators, your television sets! Arise, ye prisoners of starvation! Arise, ye wretched of the earth!"

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Some observers are led to believe that the Reds really want a truce in Korea. This idea of introducing a desire for peace into peace parleys may be radical, but we could grow to like it.

The son who follows his father's footsteps now does it mostly in the old man's car.

On the first day of school, the teacher was asking each of the first-graders to tell his name and what he wanted to be when he grew up. One little tow-head spoke up importantly:

"I'm Jimmy. When I grow up I'm gonna be a lion tamer. I'll have lots of fierce lions and tigers, and I'll walk in the cage and—"

He hesitated, then went on: "But I'll want my mother with me."

Friend of ours just returned from France gives us his word of honor that in Normandy he saw a grave bearing the following epitaph: "In memory of Maggie, a mule, who in her lifetime kicked one colonel, one major, three lieutenants, 11 sergeants, 27 privates and one bomb." —Collier's Magazine.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE United States, as the motion pictures and the stage demonstrate, has some of the finest looking girls and men in the world. But it is a well-known and seldom-mentioned experience among Canadians that when they cross the border to American cities—they are a little staggered at the really ugly people they see on the streets. In Canada, we have a fair proportion of homely people, both male and female. But in cities like New York, Buffalo, Detroit and so on along the border to the Pacific Coast, you will see without question some of the choicest examples of human ugliness to be found anywhere on earth. Gargoyles, gnomes, weird, misshapen, badly made lumps, bundles, strings and ragdolls of humanity that are all the more conspicuous because of the United States' fond dedication to beauty, chic and charm.

These unfortunates are doubtless not a product of the American climate or way of life. They date back, in every probability, to those days in American history when, in the latter quarter of the last century, the United States was rushing for population to work cheaply in its expanding economy, its railroads, its steel mills, its boundless enterprise in every field. Out of Europe and the Middle East came the hordes of the good and the bad. They were induced by any and every means to come. They were paid to come. And among those who came were a great many misfits, unfortunates, derelicts, by-products of the Old World's problems of poverty and despair; who found the emigration in high and pitiable hope of finding a better life. Some of these were handicapped by nature. A desperately only person always has two strikes on him, in the game of life.

Canada's climate has, perhaps, worked in our favor as regards the selection of our immigrants. It has frightened off, in years past, all but the sturdy and the strong. Given sturdiness and strength, even an ugly man has a chance of marrying a pretty woman. And so our breed has improved in looks. Over the border, you can see they are still paying for the industrial greed of the 19th century.

Pierce This Fog

(From The Financial Post)

CANADIANS know more about the United States than Americans do about Canada, reports the Canada-United States Committee on Education, but the ignorance on both sides is appalling.

In recent surveys Canadian students, including those attending university, were found to have only the sketchiest knowledge of United States history and geography. On the other side of the border more than half those queried could not name the capital of Canada, nor any prominent Canadian since the days of Wolfe and Montcalm. A few thought that Mackenzie King was a hockey player.

This state of affairs raises interesting questions about the educational facilities offered in Canada and the United States. Certainly our mutual ignorance of each other's country is a constant source of irritation to citizens on both sides of the border and it could become dangerous. It is no mere coincidence that the special joint committee which has been studying this matter since 1944 is supported by the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

The New York Times observes: "Barriers between countries are not always constructed of barbed wire and sentry posts. They may often develop out of ignorance of the common bonds existing among nations bordering on one another. Despite a long period of friendly relations between the United States and Canada, a broad gulf of ignorance about the other country exists among both students and teachers from Mississippi to Manitoba."

As a remedy the committee suggests a broad program covering not only the schools and universities but the press and book publishers as well. Textbook and supplementary reading could be revised and much supplemented by special works dealing with Canadian and American life. Universities would be urged to exchange more professors, particularly for teaching in summer schools. Selected universities would be asked to sponsor conferences on mutual problems of Canada and the United States. In border cities, it is suggested that the exchange of school pupils for brief periods might be undertaken.

When they go abroad, Canadians and Americans never tire boasting to less fortunate peoples about how well we know each other and get along on this enlightened continent. When compared with others, it is true, our record has been good. But decidedly there is room for improvement. And the place for that improvement, as this international committee suggests, is in our schools and our press.

Canadians and Americans could and should know a great deal more about each other. It would help boost mutual prosperity and strength. The program outlined by this international committee should get the most serious consideration on both sides of our much publicized undefended border.

Tools Help Keep Boys Off Streets, Club Told

Keeping boys off the street and giving them an interest in life calls for hammers, planes, chisels, saws and any other tools available, members of the Optimist Club of Victoria were told last night.

Alderman F. G. Mulliner officially opened the club's $6,000 hobby and recreational centre at 237 Fairfield Road.

Much of the work on the building was done by the club members who plan to enlarge the centre in the future. Work was begun a year ago.

Several power tools were given to the club by a member who has since died, and as more tools are obtained the premises will be improved to allow more boys to use the facilities.

The supervised instruction will include all phases of woodwork and also toolbuilding, model work and other hobbies.

Attending the opening ceremony last night was J. H. Hill, one of the original Optimists in Victoria. His daughter, Miss Marjorie Hill, was the architect who designed the building.

Standing Room Only Left as Healer Preaches to Crowds at St. John's

There was standing room only at St. John's Anglican Church, Quadra and Mason, last night. Spare chairs lined the aisles and people sat on stairs and in the choir stalls.

The man responsible for the crowd was Dr. Albert R. Cliffe, a slight man with keen grey eyes who "learned how to live at 50 years of age."

Dr. Cliffe is in Victoria to conduct a mission for healing of the body and soul, and he said he is "astonished at the size of the crowds." "But it's like this wherever I go," he added. "I have hardly a moment to myself. People stop me on the street, see me at meals, wait for me at my hotel."

The "mission" Dr. Cliffe preaches began as a small Bible class in Montreal in 1917 and he has since toured many countries with his message of practical Christianity. His clinic in Montreal, a "problem clinic" is staffed by doctors, nurses, psychiatrists, and psychologists to deal with prayer.

any problem in living that is brought before them. Dr. Cliffe is one of two laymen who have preached in St. Paul's, London. The other is Sir Stafford Cripps. He has also opened Congress in Washington, the only foreigner ever to do so.

After the service in St. John's last night, Dr. Cliffe spoke to many people who waited to see him, giving advice here and a word of prayer there, and helping one woman by placing his

Commodore Adams Takes Over H.M.C.S. Naden

Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, a native son, yesterday took over as Commodore of H.M.C.S. Naden. Above, at left, he shakes hands with Commodore R. E. S. Bidwell, who will leave for Halifax shortly to become Flag Officer Atlantic Coast, with rank of rear admiral. Commodore Adams has been in command of H.M.C.S. Magnificent, Canada's only aircraft carrier. (R.C.N. photo.)

Shipyards Idle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 14 (Reuters). — Twenty thousand engineers in Belfast shipyards and engineering shops struck yesterday in support of their claim for a wage increase of 11 weekly.

The Faroe Islands in the North Atlantic, about 300 miles northwest of the Shetlands, have an area of 540 square miles.

Applications Still Open For "Y" Trip

Applications are still open for joining the "Y" travel group in a trip to Yellowstone National Park next year. Y.M.C.A. reported.

There will be one bus from Victoria, one from Seattle and a third from Vancouver on the tour which will begin June 17. The buses will travel first to Penitence by Hope-Princeton Highway, then south to Spokane and the cascade will spend two or three days in Yellowstone. From there they will drive south to Reno, and visit Crater Lake, Oregon, before returning home.

The Victoria bus already has 16 reserved seats. The tour requires those participating to take out "Y" membership.

Shortage of Sawdust Follows Cold, Frosts

Low temperatures and recent frosts have combined to create a sudden "run" on sawdust which has resulted in some dealers refusing further orders until January.

Many city householders reportedly have been without sawdust for several weeks and dealers offer little hope of the situation easing.

Referring to last summer's long woods closure, one sawdust man said, "We usually manage to move quite a bit of sawdust in July and August but we were out-of-completely this year."

"We'll never catch up this winter," he added.

Last Rites Today

REV. R. S. BAKER

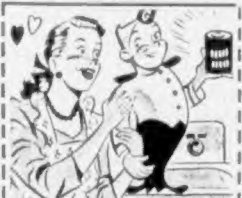

Rites will be held at 2 p.m. today at Metropolitan United Church for Rev. R. S. Baker, who died here Sunday. Service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse. Burial will be at Royal Oak. Mr. Baker, who was born in Hawke's Bay, was a graduate of three universities and was ordained at London Conference of Methodist Church in 1904. McCall Brothers are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Other reasons given for the shortage were the same as in previous years: lack of storage space in city homes and the general scarcity of fir.

Dealers in other types of fuel reported supplies as normal and said there was little danger of shortages.

Lizzie's in a dizzy tizzy — Clearing sinks sure keeps her busy!

Gillett Joe then goes to show The easy way to make 'em flow!

When even water won't seep through, Gillett's Drain Cleaner clears completely! Use 2 table-spoons each week to keep all drains free-flowing. Works quickly, safely, surely.

Bullet Crashes Into Bedroom

A charge of discharging firearms in the city is being laid after a rifle bullet crashed through a floor and a ceiling into a room where three children were asleep Sunday afternoon at a Bank street residence.

Guaranteed Working Period Scheme May Be I.W.A. Pattern in Province

ON THE LABOR FRONT

By BILL MAJOR

A guaranteed working period scheme, similar to that of the I.W.A. in the Courtenay local of International Woodworkers of America C.I.O.-C.C.L., may be the basic plan for the union in B.C.

At the Johnson Street headquarters, the union is now in the process of organizing a strike. Meanwhile the "day belt" stretches over most of Vancouver.

the 1990s. Indeed, the fact that the majority of the 110,000 immigrants in Hungary are of V.A. origin (80,000) has led to the country being referred to as 'V.A. land'. As a consequence, the V.A. immigrants have been the subject of a number of studies. In the 1990s, the majority of the studies were devoted to the economic and social adaptation of the immigrants. In the 2000s, the focus shifted to the cultural and ethnic adaptation of the immigrants. In the 2010s, the focus shifted to the political and social adaptation of the immigrants. In the 2020s, the focus shifted to the cultural and ethnic adaptation of the immigrants.

Culbertson on Bridge - - -

An astute reading of the opposing bidding or rather, of an opponent's failure to make a bid, gave declarer the key to the winning play in the following deal.

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

North
♥ 8 4
♦ 7 5 3 2
♣ A J 9 3 2

East
♠ Q J 9
♥ 6 5 3 2
♦ 10 8
♣ 10 8 7 4

South
♠ A K 4 2
♥ A 9 7
♦ A K J
♣ Q 6 5

The bidding:
1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass
West opened the heart king and, when South held up, continued with the queen and jack. After winning the third lead, declarer led a low club, actually hoping to lose the finesse to East. West's king, then, popping up second hand, was not a pleasure for sight to South, because it posed an immediate difficulty.

Declarer knew, of course, that West might be "trying to pull a fast one" by playing the king from K-x. If this was the case the entire club suit could be run. If the king was really a singleton, however, it might be fatal to win with the ace. East would have the suit stopped and declarer would make more than three club tricks.

Thus the problem was whether to let West hold the trick, or to go up with the ace, test the club further, and then, if they did not break, to rely on the diamond finesse. The danger letting West hold the king was obviously that he might then be able to lay down two more heart tricks. To defeat the contract on the spot.

South mentally reviewed the bidding. Surely, he reasoned, if West had held a five-card heart suit headed by K Q J and probably the 10 as well, he would have made a non-vulnerable one-heart overcall of one club. Thus his failure to overcall argued strongly that he had held only a four-card suit.

Acting on this shrewd premise, declarer gave West the club king, and since West could then cash only one more heart trick, the contract was safe.

Uncle Wiggly Story - - -

NURSE JANE LISTENS

While that small boy, Clarence, is on his way to try to hide in Uncle Wiggly's cellar, suppose we pay a visit upstairs to the jolly old rabbit gentleman himself.

Uncle Wiggly had eaten his breakfast in his hollow stump bungalow. His little rabbit children had hopped away to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in Hollow Tree School. Nurse Jane Puzzy Wuzzy crept softly into the dining room to pick up the dishes for their morning bath. The reason Miss Puzzy Wuzzy crept so softly was because she thought Uncle Wiggly might be going to write another story on his typewriter. But he was putting on his tall silk hat so Nurse Jane knew there would be no story writing.

"Are you going, Nurse Wiggly?" asked Nurse Jane. "Oh, wasn't that a silly question for me to ask?—Ha! Ha! Ha!" she laughed. "Of course you are going out when you put on your hat."

"Yes, I am," Uncle Wiggly answered. "I am going out to look for an adventure. Nurse Jane, I must have adventures so that I can write stories about them for the children. Now I am going to hop through the woods, over the fields, up hill and down hill, and perhaps something may happen."

"I hope it will be pleasant happenings," spoke the muskrat lady.

"Thank you," said Uncle Wiggly as he twinkled his pink nose at Nurse Jane. Then he hopped out of his bungalow, on his way to the woods, the fields and the up and down hills.

Nurse Jane carried the dishes out to the kitchen to give them their morning bath in the sink. And it was just about this time that Clarence, the boy fox, came sneaking through the bushes toward the bungalow.

Creeping out from behind a sassafras bush, Clarence, with his very sharp eyes, looked at the bungalow. He could hear Nurse Jane rattling the dishes in the kitchen. There were no other sounds in the bungalow for the rabbit children had gone to school.

Closer and closer Clarence creaked toward the bungalow. Then he sneaked to the broken window. There was room enough for the boy fox to crawl in and hide in Uncle Wiggly's cellar.

"I will stay here until it is night," said Clarence to himself.

"Then I will sneak upstairs and open the kitchen door. Daddy and mother will be hiding in the bushes near the bungalow. I will whistle at them, and they will know it is time to come in."

Clarence found a dark corner where he hid himself away back

FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1951

Today's quotation: "Lad, when yuh ain't got an education, yuh jes got to use yuh brain."

Anonymous.

Thursday for everyone: Seek to benefit through the resources and contacts of others. The day favors commercial items, business transactions, buying or selling.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — See the counsel of acquaintances and kin before making up your mind on important matters.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Finances are well-augured. Cooperation leads to satisfactory profit, a brighter outlook.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Hiring charm into play in striving of some old boxes in Uncle Wiggly's cellar.

Meanwhile the rabbit gentleman was hopping over the fields, through the woods, up hill and down hill looking for an adventure. Also, meanwhile, Nurse Jane finished giving the breakfast dishes their bath. Next she opened the door at the head of the stairs which led from the kitchen down to the cellar.

"I'll get a broom and sweep the kitchen," said Nurse Jane to herself. Just then she heard a noise. It came from down cellar. "I must listen to find out who made that noise," whispered Nurse Jane. So the muskrat lady bungalow keeper listened with both ears.

What happened next I will tell you tomorrow if the fire engine will please pump some water on the face of the clock so it can wash its hands for breakfast.

News in Review

By ERITH M. SMITH
Colonist Telegraph Editor
(From AP, CE, INS, Reuters)

Executive of the Canadian Council of Churches, meeting in Montreal, has been asked to investigate the University of Western Ontario where, one council member said, any representative of religious orders was barred from the campus.

The move was supported by Dr. A. W. Cooke of Quilicum Beach, V.I., who said more non-Roman Catholics in Canada show an "appalling ignorance of what churches stand for and the common people of Canada who have little or no interest in their churches."

International Items

France says a Paris dispatch has slashed her dollar spending program for the 1951-1952 fiscal year by 40 per cent in an economy move. This means she will buy less from the Western Hemisphere, following an example set by Britain.

Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said yesterday in Washington that settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian dispute should be a condition for U.S. consideration of any new loan or other aid to Great Britain. Closing of the Suez Canal would, he said, wreck the Allied defense effort. He urged that the dispute be taken to the United Nations.

People in the News

William C. Harris, 51, "Robin Hood" bookmaker of Los Angeles who has been paying off double to family men who won from him, has been arrested at an automobile plant where he is a $65-a-week assembly line worker.

Trade and Industry

Montreal Superior Court has turned down the request of a pharmacy of that city to compel Charles E. Frost and Co., manufacturers of pharmaceutical products, to sell them certain specified merchandise. The manufacturers had refused to deliver the merchandise because the pharmacy had sold identical products at a price lower than that fixed by the Frost company to the public.

A report from Fort Frances, Ont., says pollution of Rainy Lake from Canadian mining operations is going all the way to the U.S. State Department. Governor Elmer Anderson of Minnesota has written to Secretary of State Dean Acheson asking him to speed up efforts to end the pollution.

Echoes of Canadian farmers' dissatisfaction with the sale price of wheat for domestic use were heard in Winnipeg yesterday. J. L. Phelps of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, said wheat for domestic use is being sold at "fire sale" prices—$1.87 a bushel when it should be at least $2.12.

Political Notes

Addressing a veterans' group in Stamford, Conn., Bernard M. Baruch said last night the Truman administration was leading the U.S. down the road to socialism. Baruch, pulling no punches, ripped into what he described as the "incompetence, ineptitude, unintelligence, lack of courage, procrastination and makeshift plans and programs" of the government.

Ballot counters in Manila, Philippine Islands, saw indications of serious political upsets for President Elpidio Quirino's Liberal party last night, with indications the opposition Nacionalista party candidates would take at least seven of the nine senatorial seats at stake in the island election.

Bloedel Sisters Named In $12,500,000 Bequest

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP)—A court action being launched in Los Angeles would make two ravishing, rich Vancouver girls—both unmarried—still richer.

The Vancouver Daily Province in a front page story says R. Dwight Merrill is seeking court permission to divide equally $1,000,000 between his two granddaughters, Eulalie Bloedel, 20, and Virginia Bloedel, 22, both of Vancouver.

Merrill, 82-year-old Seattle lumberman, is seeking to give away the entire $12,500,000 fortune he recently inherited from Tommy Lee, radio and car heir, the story says.

Merrill, brother-in-law of Lee's father, the late Don Lee of American radio, was named sole beneficiary of the vast estate of Tommy Lee who plunged to death from the 12th story of a Los Angeles building, Jan. 13, 1930.

But, INS reports today, Hal Craig, of Honolulu, informed Superior Court Judge Newcomb Cooke he knew of the existence of another will. Craig said Tommy Lee told him in 1945 that he had made a will naming Craig and "a couple of dozen others" as his heirs. He specifically named a cousin, Jim Lee, reportedly the head of Don Lee's used car department and now a ranch owner in Nevada, as one of the principal heirs.

Other grandchildren of Merrill are Wagner Weyerhaeuser, George C. Wagner III and Merrill Wagner, all of Tacoma, Wash. Eulalie and Virginia are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Bloedel, wealthy Vancouver lumber family. Mrs. Bloedel is a daughter of Merrill.

Eulalie is a fourth year University of Columbia student and

Birthday Ado Delights Prince Charles

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters).—Every day for the last two weeks a sturdy little boy has jumped out of bed in the morning in a big London house with the same question: "Is today my birthday?"

Today Nurse Helen Lightbody had a welcome answer: Yes.

Prince Charles of Edinburgh, blue-eyed son of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, celebrated his third birthday today and Britain watched every minute of it.

Crowds gathered in the streets to wave to him at the window. More crowds gathered in the park to watch his daily outing.

A flying wedge of two dozen photographers followed the procession. A nurse and a big old-fashioned baby carriage with Charles inside, a detective and the Prince's dog.

War Criminals To Get Paroles

TOKYO, Nov. 14 (AP).—Twenty-five Japanese war criminals will be paroled next week after serving most of their terms in Tokyo's Sugamo prison. This will bring to 436 the number who have been freed.

Racketeers, Gamblers Owe $25,000,000 Taxes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Racketeers and gamblers owe the United States government about $25,000,000 in taxes, a spokesman for the internal revenue bureau said last night.

Sighs, and Smoke in the Eyes!

I've been torn out here, a sort of cross-fire between the quick & easy bonfire, yes—I've been wretched, feel like a heel with the fire's nostalgic, aesthetic appeal; as against more work & further upkeep of the slow & flaring compost heap. But I DID light a fire, a summer farewell, as I love in my nostrils that arid smell. But from my fire I did recoil. I KNEW those leaves, should go back in the soil. But millions I have, so I turned on the heat, got a smoldering pyre, so bitter-sweet. The wind had heaped them 'gainst the fence, the smoke lazy-spiralled & spread incense. My mind went back, standing thus, to the little boy, that's in all of us. I was sniffing thru the fallen leaves. I was back in that land of make-believe. I was running now, with hope & leaps, then jumping into raked up leaves. In our old home, got a clearer view, 'cause great oak trees grew there too. I saw the chrysanthemums & winter flowers. I could feel the cold of long winter hours. So I stirred my fire. It leaped to flame, & back to earth I quickly came. Some old chicken wire I found by the shed. I'd make a leaf-roof. I'd use my head. How I got it untangled I'll never know. It was left in the corral. I worked like the dickens. I would keep leaves, whereas they had kept chickens. I soon fluffed it up, piles of not-brown, then I got in, & jumped it all down. I raked some more, & found MORE wire, my coop ever mounting higher 'n higher. I pitched on some earth, to fool the wind, at my future humor. I stood & grinned. You'll grin with delight, if you are freezing, we're headed with Quakers for the winter season. The finest heater we've ever known, so common in write or phone. I gazed around here by the shore, there seemed more leaves than ever before. Should I compromise, I wondered & guessed, light a bonfire, & burn all the rest? "But NO." I said, "that I'll not do, tho the whole yard is fenced like a wired zoo." I found MORE wire, left here for ages, & so gaily I went on building cages. All down the lot for a great many feet, I'll have compost stuff for all on our street. As a matter of fact when they all decay, I can feed every yard in the whole of Oak Bay. A fire, I guess, I should have lit, 'cause it sure seems to me... I'VE OVERDONE THINGS A BIT.

B.C. Hospital Wage Policy Guided by Commission

Special to The Colonist
VANCOUVER, Nov. 14—British Columbia hospitals are guided on wage policy, Lloyd G. Detwiler, B.C. Hospital Insurance Service commission chairman, says.

"We do suggest to hospitals what wages are being paid to hospital employees," Mr. Detwiler testified as a witness before a conciliation board here.

Mr. Detwiler was subjected to thorough cross-examination on the question of fixed budgeting as introduced this year by B.C. H.I.S.

William Black, business representative for the T.I.C. hospital unions in British Columbia, had requested that West Coast General Hospital conciliation board chairman H. K. Bate subpoena Mr. Detwiler.

The board, consisting of A. G. McCulloch as hospital representative, W. J. Scribbers as union nominee, and H. K. Bate as chairman, heard Mr. Black question Mr. Detwiler for more than an hour during which time he admitted that the B.C.H.I.S. was "flying blind" when it comes to plans for 1952.

GOVERNMENT POLICY

"That is government policy," said Mr. Detwiler in answer to a query concerning a letter sent to hospitals referring to escalator clauses in labor agreements.

"The act was amended to compel wage negotiations for hospitals to be finished by Nov. 30 so we can prepare over-all budget for presentation to the legislature," Mr. Detwiler said. Referring again to the B.C. H.I.S. flying blind for 1952, Mr. Bate asked Mr. Detwiler if it was not possible that the service could be set up as an independent commission. Mr. Detwiler said that this was a matter of government policy.

"The inquiry board will make its recommendations and the legislature will then set the policy."

"Our major problem is what standard of hospital service the people of B.C. are willing to pay said Mr. Detwiler.

master budget we must check individual budgets, and then, in dividing funds allocated by the legislature, we must search carefully for extravagances and attempt to squeeze budgets."

WAGE FREEZE

"The government is attempting to put in a wage freeze," retorted W. J. Scribbers when Mr. Detwiler said that the B.C.H.I.S. was put on a fixed budget by the legislature and therefore must also put individual hospitals on fixed budgets.

Sunday Service At Brentwood For War Dead

BRENTWOOD, Nov. 14.—Remembrance Day was celebrated at the Brentwood memorial chapel on Sunday by a service in memory of the Old Boys of Brentwood College who gave their lives in the service of their country.

The service was conducted by the vicar, Rev. Norman A. Lowe, who was chaplain and senior English master at the college before it burned down. Norman Yarrow and E. A. M. Williams, two of the original board of governors, a number of Brentwood Old Boys and a few of the present students at the University School were among the large congregation present.

The lesson was read by Dillon Williams and the honor roll of more than 70 of those who gave their lives by Dr. M. D. Young. A young student from University School blew the bugle for "Lights Out" and "Eveville" during the observance of the two-minute silence. During the service Mr. Lowe dedicated a gift of a cross and candle sticks for the sanctuary, the money for these having been raised by the Sanctuary Guild, including an anonymous donation of $35.

Mainland's Sadsacks Just Victims of Smog

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14 (CP)—That woolly feeling a Vancouverite has on wintry mornings isn't caused by lack of sleep—it's mental depression caused by smog.

John McGregor, head of the city's smoke inspection department, made the comment Tuesday as smoke prevention week opened here.

"On an especially bad day smog obstructs the sun's health-giving rays and makes the atmosphere grey and gloomy," he said.

"This has extensive psychological effects and hampers industry and human relations."

Woman Wins Longshot In Australian Lottery

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 14 (Reuters). Mrs. J. Maclean, a florist, today pulled off a fabulous longshot. With mathematical odds stacked 9,999,800 to 1 against her, she won both first and second prizes in the New South Wales state lottery.

She shared the first prize of $13,440 with a friend. The second prize of $2,240 she split with her family.

DONCASTER, Eng. (UPI)—A school for infants here received praise in a national magazine for its novel way of teaching arithmetic. The youngsters do sums with real money from their group savings bank.
